

2022 Texas Health Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) Status

The 2022 Texas Health Community Needs Assessment is currently in the community input and data synthesis phases. A report summarizing our findings about the community health needs will be published in September 2022, and the implementation plan outlining THR's strategies to address the CHNA findings will be published in March 2023.

Many thanks to the community members who have participated in our virtual and in-person focus groups, key informant interviews, and survey/partner listening session. Your feedback will help inform the implementation plan and decisions about investments in our community health improvement efforts.

About the Texas Health Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA)

Texas Health conducts its Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) every three years to gather community input on the needs and barriers to their health status and outcomes. This year we are using a mixed-method design to gather the information, which we will use to determine findings and develop recommendations for the CHNA reports and the implementation plan respectively. The 2022 CHNA process is outlined below for reference.

For further details or questions, please reach out to Oge Okeke, Manager – Community Health Improvement Analytics [OgechukwuOkeke@TexasHealth.org] or Sika Akanji, Program Analyst – Community Health Improvement [SikaAkanji@TexasHealth.org].

Texas Health CHNA Process Map

In the meantime, please continue to reference the 2019 – 2022 CHNA reports and Implementation strategy that's on the THR website by clicking here.