

Fresh Produce & Healthy Food Resources Network

Texas Health Community Hope

serves as a resource and partner to facilitate and advance priorities that create healthier communities.

These programs support equitable access to affordable fresh fruits and vegetables in locations that are familiar and convenient to residents.

Locations

The Good For You Healthy Hub Program

The Good For You Healthy Hub program provides no-cost fresh produce and healthy staples, primarily in schools and community centers for the communities they serve. Fresh produce comprises 50% or more of each pantry's offerings. Nutrition information, utensils, resources, and cooking demonstrations are also provided. For more information, contact CommunityHope@TexasHealth.org.

Double Up Food Bucks

Double Up Food Bucks allows anyone eligible for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits to double their buying power when purchasing fresh produce at participating grocers and farmers markets. At grocers, participants receive 50% off fresh produce when using their Lone Star Card (EBT). At farmers markets, SNAP purchases for fresh produce are matched $1 for $1 in Food Bucks, valid for more fresh fruits and vegetables, or discounted 50%. Contact each market directly for operating hours. For additional information, visit DoubleUpTexas.org or scan the QR code.

THRIVE

Together Harnessing Resources to give Individuals Voice and Empowerment (THRIVE) North Texas began as an innovative program comprised of a collaboration between Texas Health Resources, Sanger Independent School District, and community-based partners. THRIVE identifies at-risk youth and provides them with opportunity to build resiliency skills by managing an on-campus grocery store. The grocery store is mainly open to students, but open to the public once a week. For more information, please contact JulieWright@TexasHealth.org.
