

Nursing Research

Help Improve the Way We Care For Patients

Make Your Mark

Make your mark at Texas Health Resources by partnering with a nurse scientist to conduct research that can improve care throughout the system.

By engaging in research, you can:

- Advance your professional development
- Support your Nursing Career Advancement Program (NCAP) goals
- Make a lasting impact on patients' lives
- Earn recognition for your work through poster and podium presentations, and published scholarly articles

Nurse Scientists

Texas Health has nine nurse scientists dedicated to guiding nurses through each step of the evidence-based practice and research journey. They can help you take a question, concern or idea and turn it into a project that can help advance evidence-based clinical care, support policy development or contribute to nursing education.

To contact a nurse scientist and get started on your evidence-based practice or research project today, send an email to: THRNurseScientist@TexasHealth.org.
